California Riot Area Kept Calm

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — National Guard troops armed with rifles and fixed bayonets patrolled the riot-torn mile-square college community of Isla Vista early today, calming the area hit by four days of violence.

About 150 of the 600 National Guardsmen called to active duty by Gov. Ronald Reagan Friday morning blocked entrance to the community except to residents during a 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew.

Officials said 114 persons had been arrested by early today, mostly for investigation of failing to disperse or for loitering. Little violence was reported Friday night, in contrast to three earlier nights of burnings, bombings and confrontations between law enforcement officers and demonstrators.

Two demonstrators, four officers and a passing motorist did suffer minor injuries Friday night during sporadic rock-throwing. One rock thrower smashed out a Jeep's window.

Jeeps and trucks crowded with National Guardsmen cruised in formation through the streets. Many residents leaned their heads through windows or stood on balconies watching the cruising guardsmen. Stereo sets, playing the college set's rock music, blared from apartments in the background. Small groups of demonstrators roamed the area, dispersing as the guardsmen approached.

Release Of List Of Prisoners Seen By Eaton

PARIS (AP) — Cleveland industrialist Cyrus Eaton said today he is confident the North Vietnamese soon will release a list of U.S. prisoners they are holding and allow the captives to write their families.

Eaton said this after conversations with Xuan Thuy, Hanoi's chief peace talks negotiator, and Le Duc Tho, a member of the North Vietnamese politburo and a special adviser to the delegation.

It Isn't A 'Bonanza' Down On Ponderosa

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Taxes are too high down on the Ponderosa and the owners reckon it isn't the bonanza the tax assessor claims it is.

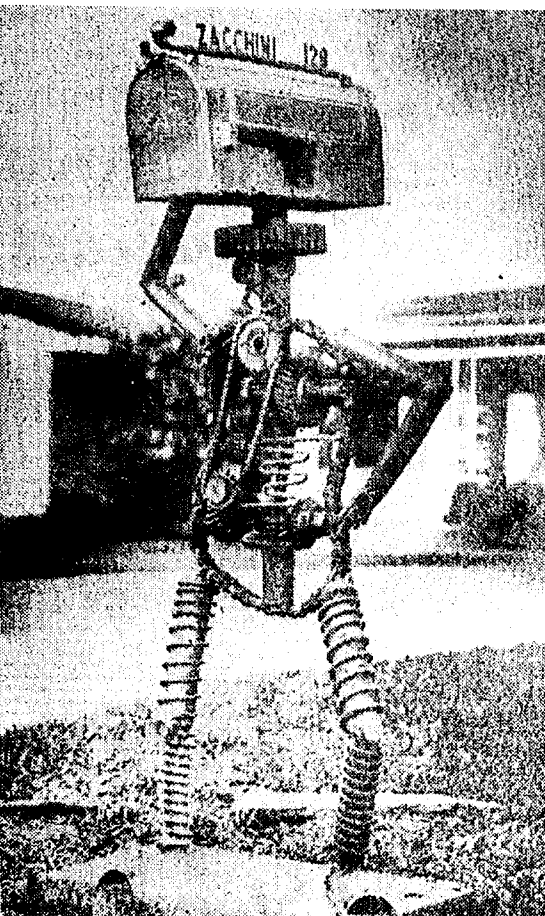

The 53-acre ranch, where the "Bonanza" television series is filmed, was overvalued by the Washoe County tax assessor, owners told the Nevada Board of Equalization Friday.

As in all "Bonanza" episodes, the folks on the ranch won in the end. The board ruled unanimously to reduce the assessment by about one-third on 70 per cent of the property.

The ranch was built in the Sierra North of Lake Tahoe in 1967 for Paramount Studios, which could not find available ranch-like territory around Los Angeles.

Owners told the board the ranch is mostly building facades, used in exterior shots, and not worth the value of whole buildings.

Appeals Court Frees 'Chicago 5' On Bail

CHICAGO (AP) — The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today ordered the seven riot conspiracy defendants freed on bail pending appeals from convictions on charges of inciting rioting and contempt of court.

An order signed by five judges of the appeals court fixed bonds for five defendants convicted of inciting rioting at $25,000 each. The court fixed bail of $15,000 each for two others sentenced for contempt.

The court directed that two lawyers for the seven defendants who also were sentenced for contempt also be allowed to remain free on $15,000 bonds pending appeals.

Second Dionne Quintuplet Dies

Deadline Sunday For Some Plates

LANSING (AP) — Commercial vehicles and trailers must have their new 1970 plates by Sunday, reminds the office of Secretary of State James Hare.

The last date for plate buying was today. Late shoppers were advised to check if their local license plate office would open today.

All civil service operated branches will be open but some smaller offices may be closed, Hare said.

Passenger car and motorcycle plate buyers were assured they still have another month to purchase their plates.

March 31 is the deadline for these plates this year.

"This is our first year under the split deadline system and we find some confusion among plate buyers," Hare said. "But it should relieve some of the mass congestion in late March."

Constitution Doesn't Apply To His Shoes

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Police can take off a man's shoes without violating his constitutional rights, the state appeals court has ruled.

Edward Trudeau, sentenced from Oakland County Circuit Court on Oct. 22, 1968, for second-degree murder, appealed to the court on the grounds his shoes were taken from him in violation of his constitutional rights.

The shoes were used for comparison with footprints found at the scene of the crime.

The appeals court upheld Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick Ziem in denying the appeal.

"The taking and use of his shoes in this instance did not violate his privilege of self-incrimination... nor his right to be free from unreasonable search and seizure," the appeals court said.

Pompidou Likes Shaking Hands In California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — French President Georges Pompidou plunged repeatedly into crowds to shake hands during his 37-hour visit to Northern California.

The president, who leaves today for Chicago, is on an eight-day tour of the United States.

He joined tourists at the Golden Gate Bridge and at Coit Tower atop Telegraph Hill Friday pointing out well-known spots to his wife, Claude.

Pompidou also spoke at a Commonwealth Club luncheon, visited the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center, and was host at a reception for members of the French-American colony here.

Mrs. Houle's brother-in-law, Germain Allard, went to her Montreal apartment and with a policeman and doctor broke down the door when she didn't answer.

"I was checking on her because she had not phoned since last Monday," Allard said. "She usually phoned every day."

At their home in Callander, near the tourist and rail center of North Bay in northern Ontario, the quint's parents, Olivia and Elzire, now in their 60s, were reported to be "very upset."

EMILIE DIED IN '54 — The first of the famous quintuplets to die was Emilie, who suffocated during an epileptic seizure in 1954.

Surviving are Annette of Saint Bruno, Que., the wife of Allard, a finance company executive; Cecile, separated from her husband Philippe Langlois and living in Quebec City with her four children; and Yvonne, who is unmarried and lives in Montreal.

Marie was separated from her husband, Florian Houle, whom she married at the age of 24. Their two children had been placed in a foster home operated by nuns before her 35th birthday, last May 8.

Born in 1934 and raised with much publicity, the quintuplets have been beset by a variety of family troubles and personal misfortune.

DISPLAYED IN YARD

Until they were 2 years old, they were displayed in an open play yard behind wire fences while crowds gathered to watch. They were credited with boosting Ontario's tourist income from $51 million in 1934 to $100 million in 1936.

As the sisters' fame spread, the provincial government set up a trust fund for them from their earnings. In 1955, when the four surviving members reached 21, the fund amounted to more than $1 million.

A few years ago in one of their rare interviews, the sisters said there was friction between them and their parents as they grew older, especially over control of the trust fund.

Marie entered a convent in Quebec City in 1954 but she was forced to leave because of poor health. She then tried another convent in Richelieu but also left.

FLORIST SHOP — In 1965, she used a portion of the trust fund to set up a florist shop in Montreal called Salon Emilie, named for her deceased sister.

Guatemala Official Kidnaped

GUATEMALA (AP) — Kidnapers of Guatemala Foreign Minister Alberto Fuentes Mohr gave the government 24 hours today to free a university student in exchange for Fuentes Mohr's release.

The kidnapers' message said Fuentes Mohr, 42, who was seized as he rode home from work Friday night, will be released when the student is turned over to the Mexican Embassy in Guatemala City.

The kidnapping is the latest in a series of incidents in recent weeks including shootings and bombings. The government blames extremists of both the left and the right, and says the goal of both factions is to disrupt Sunday's presidential and congressional elections.

In their ransom message to Guatemala radio stations, the kidnapers said they are members of the Armed Rebel Forces, a Marxist-leaning group that police said attempted to assassinate the director of the Central American country's election council Tuesday. He was wounded slightly.

On Thursday, three persons, including a candidate for Congress from the ruling Revolutionary party, were shot and killed as they put up campaign posters on a downtown street.

But police said the shooting was a gun battle between factions of the Revolutionary party and the right-wing National Liberation Movement.

Public Hearings Conclude

Decision Rests With Legislature

DETROIT (AP) — A State Senate committee studying proposals to change abortion laws, held its final public hearing on the matter Friday and once again heard both sides of the issue.

Most of those attending the hearing at the City-County Building in Detroit—some 500—were women. The quiet hearing was sparked at one point by a member of a feminist group, Women's Liberation, who said the women weren't being allowed to speak.

HARD FIGHT AHEAD

The quiet meeting belied, perhaps, the hard fight expected to come this session of the Legislature when proponents of abortion law reform push their proposals for passage.

One year ago, a liberalized abortion law missed passage by only one vote in the Senate. New bills are being prepared that would remove virtually all curbs on abortion. Simultaneously, at least one state senator and some organized groups are planning to challenge the constitutionality of Michigan's present abortion law.

At yesterday's hearing, the proponents of liberalized abor-

Group Plans Abortion Law Court Test

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A group calling itself the Concerned Citizens for Abortion Reform announced plans Friday to file a suit in Federal Court to test the constitutionality of Michigan's abortion laws.

Ron Paul, counsel for CCAR, said "Recent court decisions, suit in Federal Court to test the District of Columbia, make us very confident that the laws will be found unconstitutional."

tion laws included representatives of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan.

PROSECUTOR OPPOSED

Among the opponents — or those recommending caution — were representatives of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit and Wayne County Prosecutor William Cahalan.

"We must make absolutely certain," Cahalan advised the senators, "that you do not enact legislation permitting destruction of a life of a fellow human being."

In response to a question, Cahalan said, "If you conclude an unborn child is not a person—that it has no more significance than a wart — then it has no rights."

Representatives of the Roman Catholic clergy argued that abortion amounts to murder. Some said they feared abortion could lead to mercy killing, or killing of the aged and deformed.

BACKERS IN MAJORITY

But the proponents of liberalized abortion laws outnumbered the opponents.

Replying to Cahalan's views, Shirley J. Burgoyne of Ann Arbor said, "The essential point is that abortion is not a question of law, but a question of medicine. The State of Michigan doesn't recognize an unborn child as a person."

"Most women, like myself, wouldn't ask for an abortion—we want to have children," said Mrs. Burgoyne, a mother of two and a lawyer. "This is only for the desperate."

Many of those favoring changes in current law stressed the individual rights of women... the right to have an abortion if desired.

Spock Sponsors In Hole $1,000 After Speech

The lecture appearance of Dr. Benjamin Spock, retired baby doctor and war critic, in Benton Harbor last week resulted in a loss of approximately $1,000 to the sponsoring Student Senate of Lake Michigan college.

Dr. Michael Stone, dean of students, said a ticket count showed 543 tickets were sold for Dr. Spock's appearance in the Benton Harbor high school gymnasium. Stone estimated the loss at $1,000, saying that not all bills were in yet to establish an exact figure.

The contract fee for Dr. Spock's lecture appearance was $2,000. Reportedly, the speaker is turning his fees over to the Civil Liberties League Defense fund, an organization designed to raise money for the legal defense of draft objectors.

Stone said the decisions on all concert-lecture performers brought here with student activity funds are made by the students themselves. He added that, despite the loss, he considered the money well spent — "or well lost" — because the students learn by carrying full responsibility.

He said that Dr. Spock himself proved somewhat less than a success with many students during an informal meeting with students on campus before the lecture.

More Fun Nowadays
To Be A Clubwoman

Who cares about "Roberts' Rules of Order"? Break the teapot and forget the wafer cookies! Start the music, snap your fingers and dance!

Women's clubs can be real fun! Remember the stuffy, corseted clubwomen that Helen Hokinson made famous in New Yorker magazine?

They're about to become as archaic as bustles. For the old order changeth on the local scene. The ladies are having a ball, or perhaps several balls.

Take this advertisement posted

The signs don't say what kind of recreation. But a phone call brought the news that the ladies are studying development of a skating rink, tennis courts, or a teen center.

Three weeks after the adventure in the "wondrous ways of wine," the ladies of Civic Benefit club plan a "champagne brunch" at Berrien Hills Country club. Proceeds from the donations of $6 per goblet-setting will benefit local charities.

Both these events promise a lot more entertainment than listening to a book review. It's nice the girls finally have reached a state of freedom where they can do good and enjoy it.

Don't think the editors disapprove. They're simply mourning what all those lost years in PTA might have been.

Spiro! It Isn't Fair For Bumpkins To Hit Back

During the Depression of the 1930's, a story made the rounds concerning a farmer whose brother became a professor of economics and a member of President Franklin Roosevelt's "Brain Trust." Everyone asked the farmer what his famous brother thought about the economy.

"Hell," he would reply, "he don't know any more about it than the rest of us. He can just talk about it better."

Vice President Spiro Agnew has the knack for exposing contemporary "experts" on sociology who possess the jargon of the trade but little practical common sense to go with it.

And he's doing it by talking language everybody understands, not just a band of pretentious sophists who have read each other's books.

In his latest straight-talking speech, to the nation's governors, Agnew said a "threat of revolution" is a "clear and present danger." But it is "not the war in Vietnam, nor inflation, nor the environment . . . it is: Will the government of this country remain in the hands of its elected officials or will it descend to the streets?"

The Vice President added that his concern was not grounded in "fear of the kooks or demagogues themselves, but in their current respectability."

"Never in our history have we paid so much attention to so many odd characters," he said.

"Twenty-five years ago, the tragicomic antics of such societal misfits would have brought the establishment running after them with butterfly nets rather than television cameras."

"It is in this inordinate attention to the bizarre, this preoccupation with the dramatic, this rationalization of the ridiculous, that we threaten the progress of our nation."

Agnew declared "it is time for the political, business and academic leaders of this country to lead a figurative march back to normalcy." He said elected officials must be willing to "withstand the criticisms of the liberal community."

There's the rub. Vote-hungry politicians recognize the general public seldom organizes, seldom retaliates at the polls. But the Far Left radicals and their apologists in press and Academia constitute a continuing, articulate threat to the career of the politician who dares stand up for the general good.

Agnew thinks times are changing. He believes the "overwhelming majority of Americans" will follow the lead of elected officials who choose to send out the men with butterfly nets.

The Vice President will take his lumps once more from the Far Left vandals who admittedly want to abolish democracy, and from fuzzy-minded liberals who can't distinguish between liberty and license. The abuse will be all the more vituperative because Agnew has the ability to hoist them with their own petard. He uses their tool, words, to expose them.

It just isn't fair for the bumpkins to strike back.

RELIGION IN NEWS

Will Prince Charles Defend The Faith?

By REV. LESTER KINSOLVING

When it comes to withering criticism of American religious institutions, British journalists can be tigers.

They described Billy Graham, for instance, as "Gabriel in Gabardine," "The Hot Gospel" and "Jesus, Incorporated."

(The Rev. Dr. Graham has since announced that he will not again lead crusades in Britain. And the British branch of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association last year suddenly suspended publication of its MAGAZINE Christian.)

Yet the British press has forbidden even to question the religious beliefs of the 21-year-old Cambridge University student Kinsolving who will one day become "Supreme Governor" of the 27 million-member Church of England.

His Royal Highness The Prince of Wales, Charles Philip Arthur George of The House of Windsor, has held four press conferences. In none of these was he ever questioned as to the Faith which as King he will officially become "Defender of."

Certainly the House of Windsor must at least care about religion — even if negatively. For it was a religious rule that brought heartbreak to Charles' Aunt Margaret and abdication to his Great Uncle Edward. And, more recently, great concern has been felt over the Holy war in the northwest reaches of the realm.

Yet when this writer asked Buckingham Palace for an interview regarding how the Prince feels about the Faith he is supposed to defend, the reaction was one of restrained and dignified horror.

"That simply cannot be arranged!" exclaimed a voice in the Office of the Queen's Press Secretary.

The future King Charles III could have a significant influence in English and world-wide Christianity, if this charming and intelligent Prince is allowed to take seriously his title of Defender of The Faith.

He could, for instance, reach infinitely more of his subjects, simultaneously, via TV, than could his great, great, great grandmother Victoria, whose influence was immeasurable in a local and world-wide religious revival and missionary activity. His grandfather, George VI, in 1940 broadcast a Christmas message of religious hope that inestimably lifted up the spirits of his people in their darkest hours.

At the present time, Prince Charles' church is in sad shape indeed. Of its 27 million members, only two million made their communions last Easter. And the number of ordinations between 1964 and 1967 has plummeted at such a rate that, if it is continued, ordination to the priesthood will come to an end next year.

Yet the BBC as well as the commercial TV stations continue to reserve Sunday evenings from 6:15 to 7:25 for religious broadcasting (a favorite programme: a hymn sing). Surely if this charming and intelligent Prince has the brains and grace to learn Welsh prior to his investiture as Prince of Wales, he could very effectively defend the Faith with even an occasional TV appearance. And like President Nixon (and lately the Vice President), no one would have a higher rating.

Prince (or King) Charles might not only present and defend the Faith, but he could lend immense influence in reforming the Church of which he is supposed to be Supreme Governor.

He could raise the question, for instance, as to why R.A.F. Group captain Peter Townsend should have been expected by compassionless church law to bear witness to a marriage that had ceased to exist (his wife having divorced and remarried) — instead of marrying Princess Margaret. Despite Captain Townsend's belonging to that small group owed so much by so many, this romance was nullified by order of the Archbishop of Canterbury who, like all British bishops, is appointed by the Prime Minister. (Prime minister at that time was Anthony Eden — who had himself been divorced and remarried.)

Then, King Charles III might notify (without invading) Parliament that until that body is willing to let his Church revise its archaic Book of Common Prayer (which proposed revision Parliament voted down in 1928) he, as King, would hold up all honors — such as rewarding money — making businessmen (or Beatles) with Lordships or Commanderships in the Order of The British Empire.

Prince Charles is described by one Cambridge clergyman (who prefers to be anonymous) as "a regular church-goer, who is helpful: he sometimes reads the lessons at services. But," added this clergyman, "he is surely entitled to his privacy" — which appeared to be a contention that Defense of The Faith should be done with all the secrecy of an 007. And despite the fact that the Prince's Equerry is an experienced public relations man, David Checketts.

Thus far, with interviewing, journalists required to submit their questions in advance (and apparently dutifully submitting to this Royal straitjacket) Charles has been confronted with such earth-shaking questions as his love life — never such relatively unimportant subjects as politics or religion.

Thus the British Government forces the human being who is its Sovereign and Supreme Church Governor to perch on a pedestal of irrelevance.

Opening lead — king of hearts.

There is much more to this game of bridge than meets the eye. For example, consider this hand played in the 1966 Trials.

At one table, South got to three spades on the bidding shown and West led the A-K-Q of hearts, East following once and then discarding two low clubs.

West led another heart, declarer ruffing high in dummy as East this time discarded a diamond. You might think that South would finish down one — since he apparently must lose a diamond and a club — but declarer found a way to make the contract.

At trick five he led a spade to the queen, followed by the five of clubs towards dummy. West could not afford to go up with the ace, which would have made South's task very easy, so he played the nine instead.

Declarer won in dummy with the queen and drew four more rounds of trumps, producing this three-card position:

North		East

South now led the king of clubs, forcing West to win with the ace and return a diamond, and the outcome was that South made three spades.

It is interesting to note that East could have defeated the contract had he ruffed the third round of hearts and returned a diamond. This would have nipped the endplay in the bud and ruined South's chances of making the contract. It is further more interesting to note that at one table East actually made his play to hold South to eight tricks.

BERRIEN OFFICIALS CRITICIZE PROPOSED LAW

Niles Bank Tries Again For Branch

Third Application Seeks Approval For Fairplain Site

For the third time, the Niles-based First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan has applied to open a branch in Fairplain, residential suburb immediately south of Benton Harbor.

As on earlier unsuccessful occasions, it is expected Twin Cities banks will oppose the new effort.

The application for the Fairplain branch was filed with the U.S. Comptroller of Currency Feb. 19 by Samuel Creden, president of the Niles Bank.

If a permit is issued, Creden plans to build on an L-shaped lot which his bank owns at the northwest corner of Colfax and Napier avenues, heart of Fairplain.

The property fronts on both Napier and Colfax, "wrapping around" a service station on the immediate corner. When the bank acquired the site in 1968, Creden said that it was zoned commercial.

NO REASON
In 1969, First National was rejected in a bid to put the branch building on the same site. The Comptroller of Currency, regulatory agent for federally-chartered banks, gave no reason.

Still earlier, in 1968, the Niles bank received two rejections when it tried to open a branch on the south side of West Napier in Fairplain. Not only did the comptroller say no, the St. Joseph township zoning board refused to reclassify the land from residential to commercial.

Also in 1968, First National had asked approval to open another branch in Shoreham, south of St. Joseph. That, too, was denied. The Shoreham application was not subsequently pressed.

A spokesman for the Farmers & Merchants National Bank of Benton Harbor confirmed today that the Benton Harbor bank will oppose Creden's latest application. A spokesman for the Peoples State Bank of St. Joseph indicated that bank's opposition "likely." There was no comment available from Inter-City Bank, another of the three banks based in Benton Harbor and St. Joseph.

OPENLY OPPOSED
Frequently, it's difficult to get bankers to speak on the record about their opposition to competitive institutions. But in 1968 practically all top Twin City bankers showed up at the hearing on Creden's first application for a Fairplain branch. They didn't speak against the branch; the re-zoning impasse was enough to block the branch then. But after the hearing, one local bank official told the press it goes without saying that banks in the Twin Cities do not want the Niles bank to expand here, and vice versa.

"There are adequate banking facilities in the area," he said, adding: "There are 22 financial institutions within a three-mile radius."

Interestingly, First National of Niles is itself engaged in an effort to keep another bank from locating on its home-grounds at Niles.

The First Commercial Savings Bank of Cassopolis and Constantine has applied for permission to open a branch on the south side of Niles. The application was filed with the State Banking Commissioner, regulatory agency for state banks. First National of Niles is contesting the application before the commissioner. The Niles bank was successful a couple of years ago in blocking a similar application from the First Commercial Savings Bank.

Fire Levels Barn In Coloma Twp.

COVERT — A barn at the Chris Duffield residence, 48th avenue and 82nd street, Coloma township, was destroyed by fire Friday night.

Covert firemen answered the alarm at 7:45 p.m. The fire, which was near the Covert-Coloma townships border had totally engulfed the building when firemen arrived.

The owners were not at home at the time of the fire. Covert firemen were assisted by the Lake Michigan Beach fire department.

Fairplain Sailor Helps Boost Morale In Navy

By ORVIN JOHNSON
Staff Writer

A Navy corpsman in Vietnam is a jack-of-all-trades. Mundane matters of immunization records, malaria pills and sanitation are his responsibility. So are first aid and preparation of the seriously wounded for evacuation by helicopter.

This is the way it must be, says Ronald Trowbridge, 21. The corpsman is the only immediate medical help available to the men he serves with in Vietnam.

Hospitalman Third Class Trowbridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Trowbridge of 501 Lakeway, Fairplain, is home on leave after 11 months in Vietnam, where he served as corpsman among the Marines of the First Battalion, First Marine Regiment, south of Da Nang.

A Navy corpsman serves Marines as the Army medic serves the infantryman. Like corpsmen, and medics, everywhere Trowbridge is "Doc" to the other men.

Being a "Doc" means also you're confident, adviser and general morale-booster. "They look up to us," Trowbridge says. "We try to keep morale high and set an example."

Trowbridge signed as a corpsman in the Navy shortly before he was graduated from Benton Harbor high school in 1967. There was a family precedent for the choice. His father served in World War II as a pharmacist mate, an earlier term for corpsman, and saw action in both the Atlantic and Pacific.

The younger Trowbridge went through boot training at Great Lakes Naval Training center and remained for corps school. He took additional training at the Field Medical Service school at Camp LeJeune, North Carolina, then served there at the naval hospital for nine months.

In Vietnam, Trowbridge spent the first six and a half months in the field. The remainder was in the relative quiet of the battalion aid station — except for occasions when his services were needed back in the field again.

Is camp, he was assigned to his unit's Medcap team — short for medical combined action platoon — and was involved in treating Vietnamese civilians. On his own, Trowbridge undertook a project to build a small dispensary for the Vietnamese. Using ammunition boxes, the universal building material of GI's in Vietnam, he even outfitted it with examination tables, benches and shelves.

Every day some 70 Vietnamese visited the dispensary. Their complaints ranged from infections to tuberculosis and shrapnel wounds. Attending to these complaints were four Vietnamese women, who served as nurses, and two young Vietnamese boys, who interpreted. The Vietnamese personnel handled the patients, Trowbridge said, because they had the confidence of their own people.

Serious cases were sent to the battalion hospital or, in certain instances, to DaNang, Saigon or even the United States.

Cleanliness was a major health problem for the Vietnamese stopping at his dispensary, Trowbridge says. Infections are common, especially among children, because the Vietnamese lack the means to keep clean. Donations of hand soap from the United States allowed the staff to help their patients.

Trowbridge has been credited with saving the lives of two Marines seriously wounded by an exploding booby trap while they were on patrol.

One of the men treated lost a leg and was seriously wounded in the other. He recently wrote "Doc" in his condition.

Chief among his concerns, the man indicated, was the improvement of his remaining leg. He turns 21 March 7, he wrote, and is looking forward to celebrating the occasion.

Supervisors Could Fill Vacancies

Power Shift Called Threat To Elective System

By TOM BRUNDRETT
Staff Writer

Three Berrien county officials Friday rapped proposed state legislation to give county boards of supervisors the power to fill unexpected vacancies in county elective offices.

The three said county-wide elected officials across the state were opposed to the proposal now being studied by a committee of the state House of Representatives. The bill is being pushed by the Michigan Association of County Boards of Supervisors.

The move would give county boards too much leverage over the elective offices, the Berrien officials said.

OTHERS OPPOSED, TOO
Attacking the proposal were County Clerk Forrest (Hank) Kesterke, Prosecutor Ronald J. Taylor, and Register of Deeds Judith Litke. They said they spoke for the other elective offices also. The others are the sheriff, treasurer, drain commissioner and surveyor.

They said the statewide organization of county officials has voted against the proposal as have individual organizations representing each of the offices.

If the bill became law, county boards could appoint officials of their choice. Kesterke said a board could force an office holder to resign by withholding funds, then appoint a successor.

Kesterke said the present system for filling vacancies avoids this situation. The system now requires circuit court appointment of clerks and prosecutors and appointment of the others by a combined circuit court, probate court and prosecutor system.

Kesterke said the proposed power shift had been reported out of a House committee once but returned in view of the opposition. One amendment was added, returning the appointment of clerks and prosecutors only to the circuit court, he said.

'PARTISAN MATTER'
Taylor said the proposal would make appointments a "partisan matter" and he questioned the qualifications of boards of supervisors to pick successors. He also believed the move was the first step in doing away with elected officials and creating a board — appointed system to fill all offices.

"If they (the legislature) pass it, they are going to have a lot of upset county officials on their necks," Taylor said.

Mrs. Litke said, under the system, a board could make an office situation "very difficult" by cutting back on funds and eventually forcing an official it didn't like to resign.

"We were told several times that it (the proposal) has died. But who knows. The system should be left as it is," Mrs. Litke said.

State Rep. Ray C. Milton said he doubted that proponents of the bill could muster enough votes to pass it. If they could, he said, it would not have been shuffled back into a committee. The Senate would defeat the plan even if the House subsequently approves it, the legislator said.

County Board Chairman Frank Poorman, a member of the board of directors of the state organization, had no comment on reasons the bill was being sought by the state organization.

Poorman said the county board had not considered the proposal individually and he did not believe a committee was checking into it. "It's just one of those touchy issues," he said.

Poorman is the District Eight representative on the state county board organization.

Couple Held On Kidnaping Charges

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Cahoon, Sr., were held under bonds of $5,000 each after they returned from California to Berrien county Friday to face seven counts of enticing children away from legal guardians. The charges are under the state kidnaping statute.

CONGRESSMAN FORD

They demanded examinations when arraigned Friday evening before Fifth District Judge John T. Hammond. The Cahoons also requested court-appointed counsel to represent them. The bonds were not posted immediately.

The couple returned to Berrien county after they left Jan. 26, 1969, allegedly taking with them seven minor children from former marriages. They were located in California after more than six months of investigation that was instigated by St. Joseph police.

Mr. and Mrs. Cahoon were directed to return to Michigan after a governor's extradition hearing in California. They arrived at O'Hare airport, Chicago, yesterday and were met by Berrien county authorities. The children were returned to Michigan earlier. Authorities list Mrs. Margaret Cahoon of St. Joseph as legal guardian of four of the children and Roy Feltner, Coloma, as legal guardian of three.

Ford Will Speak At GOP Event

The Van Buren County Republican Lincoln banquet has been rescheduled for Saturday, April 25, according to Roger Thomas, banquet committee chairman.

He is the minority leader and has served on the House appropriations committee, defense subcommittee, foreign operations subcommittee and has been a member of the House GOP policy committee for eight years.

Recognized as an outstanding legislator, he has received numerous awards including the American Political Science association's distinguished congressional service award and the George Washington award from the American Good Government society.

Ford was appointed to the Warren commission by President Johnson to investigate the assassination of President Kennedy. With John R. Stiles, he co-authored the book "Portrait of the Assassin."

The banquet will be held at Galati's restaurant, Red Arrow highway, between Hartford and Lawrence.

Tickets may be obtained from members of the Van Buren Republican committee, county commissioners and township supervisors.

CLASSY CREW STEALS LMCA TITLE SHARE

Big Reds 'Upstage' Tigers, 96-74

By JIM DeLAND
Sports Editor

MUSKEGON — A classy crew of Muskegon stage hands stole the show and a share of the Lake Michigan Athletic Conference championship from Benton Harbor's visiting troupe here Friday night.

Led by scoring star Larry Tatum, coach Mike Murphy's Big Reds ran up what is probably the highest score ever recorded against a Benton Harbor team as they upstaged the Tigers 96-74 to gain a share of the LMCA title for the second year in a row.

It was a stunning reversal of form on the part of a team Benton Harbor had beaten 75-74 earlier in the season, snapping the Tigers' winning streak at seven games and sending them into next week's tournament with a 13-4 record.

"I'm disappointed, of course," coach Ace Elsner said, "but I told the kids we've had a good year regardless of losing here tonight. We're just going to forget it."

There was little else the Tigers could do after being outshot, outrebounded, outplayed and outscored in their worst defeat of the season.

Tatum, making his final appearance in Muskegon's central campus auditorium, drilled in 13 of 20 shots in a deadly 26-point performance before departing in a tumultuous ovation with almost three minutes remaining in the game.

The senior standout had plenty of assistance from other members of the Muskegon cast, with 6-6 center Jeff Billingsley scoring 20 points in his first game since undergoing an appendectomy three weeks ago while swift guards Ray Turner and Bob Carlson added 16 and 15 respectively.

Benton Harbor got 20 points from Don Hopkins in a 27-shot bombardment and 11 more from fellow guard Al Williams, but substitute Ron Patterson with 10 points was the only other Tiger to reach double figures.

The Tigers had little success penetrating Muskegon's 2-1-2 zone defense while their own pressing man-to-man was about as effective as a sieve in stopping the Big Reds' scoring torrent.

"We didn't rebound like we have in the past month," Elsner conceded, "but what hurt us the most was that our defense operated poorly. Our front men weren't helping out when they got past our guards."

"We tried a box-and-one for about two minutes there at the end of the half, but you'd never recognize it — half our kids were still pressing all over the place."

Turner, especially, turned the press into easy layups for Muskegon while scoring 12 points in the Big Reds' 31-point second quarter outburst, and the board work of Billingsley and the outcourt artistry of Tatum and Carlson proved too much for the Tigers to handle.

"In a sense, they beat us at our own game — rebounding and running," Elsner noted.

Benton Harbor started off matching Muskegon point-for-point in a furious score duel and the Tigers trailed by only one point at 33-32 after 11 minutes of play.

But in the next three minutes the Tigers were outscored 12-2 — the first of two deadly spurts that put Muskegon on easy street. The Big Reds led 54-40 at intermission and 69-43 less than four minutes later after a 15-3 surge that buried the Tigers' hopes for good.

Muskegon hit 37 of 80 shots for a 46.3 average with Billingsley netting 7 of 12 and Carlson 7 of 10, and the Big Reds cashed in on 22 of 27 from the free throw line.

Benton Harbor connected on only 29 of 83 (.349) from the field and 16 of 23 from the foul line.

The victory was Muskegon's ninth over Benton Harbor in the last 10 games played on the stage, and gives the Big Reds a final record of 10-6 after winning nine of their last 11 outings. Both teams finish with 7-1 conference records.

Al Snyder's Tiger Cubs fared much better in the preliminary game, wrapping up an undisputed conference championship with a 73-52 victory over the Little Reds.

Lonnie Davis led the way with 27 points and Neal Lewis scored 11 for the Tiger Cubs, who finish with a perfect 8-0 conference record and a near-perfect 16-1 slate for the entire season.

THE WORLD OF Sports

St. Joe Doomed To Losing Year

By JAKE SHUBINSKI
Staff Sports Writer

The St. Joseph Bears missed their goal Friday night and ended the season with a 57-46 loss to the Portage Northern Huskies.

The goals missed that hurt the most were on each end of the St. Joseph gym, but the one that coach George Gauder had his heart set on was an 8-8 record that he predicted at the start of the season.

But you can't have one goal with out the others, so the Bears will take a 7-9 mark into next Tuesday's district opener with Niles in the Benton Harbor gym.

The 29.5 shooting percentage (18-for-61) compiled by the Bears was their third worst of the season, but it was still better than the 29.0 (20-for-69) registered by the Huskies.

Actually, the Bears were lucky to get 61 shots at the basket in view of the multitude of ball control errors they made.

The Bears turned the ball over to the Huskies 23 times in the last three quarters after being charged with just three errors in the first eight minutes.

Northern was plagued with mistakes in the first period, and they helped the Bears vault into a 10-4 lead near the midway mark of the quarter as Dan Brege scored the first five St. Joseph points.

With 3:30 left in the period, St. Joseph led 12-8 on a layup by John Armstrong but didn't get another field goal until Armstrong hit again at the 12 second mark that gave the Bears a 17-16 lead at the end of the quarter.

Despite nine turnovers, the Bears trailed the Huskies by only 27-21 with just over three minutes left in the half. In those last three minutes, the only baskets scored were by Stan Watts, Mike White and Scott Marutz to give the Bears an even break, 27-27, at the half.

The basket by Marutz came on a rebound effort, the only such two-points tallied by the Bears during the game as the Huskies controlled the defensive boards.

A layup by Dale Shuggars early in the third period put the Huskies in front to stay as the Bears added another nine turnovers to their total in this period.

To make matters worse, St. Joseph couldn't hit the basket when there wasn't any competition. The Bears missed a total of five wide open layups during the period, three of which came on fast breaks.

"We like to think that our defense causes the other team to make mistakes," said Northern coach Bud Fossen. "We try to control the tempo of the game and if we don't play good defense, we have a hard time winning."

Gauder agreed that Northern's man-to-man defense had something to do with St. Joseph's problems. "They're quick," admitted Gauder.

Even with the Bears unable to hit against the man-to-man, Fossen ordered his team into a 1-3-1 zone for the final five minutes.

"This shouldn't have bothered us but it did," said Gauder. "We have to play to run against that type of defense but nobody on the court seemed to remember."

Rebounding charts showed that Northern enjoyed a slight 42-40 edge in board control. Three Huskies, Scott Malaney (11), Jim Beck (10) and John Cooper (10) accounted for 31 of these.

White led the Bears both in scoring and rebounding. His 14 points was his season high and he accounted for 11 rebounds.

He scored seven of St. Joseph's

11 third quarter points.

Cooper and Malaney shared high point honors for the Huskies with 16 each. Shuggars tossed in 14.

The loss left the Bears with a 5-5 league record good for third place in the Big Six. Northern nailed down second place with a 7-3 record and are 11-6 overall.

Coach Lloyd MacTavish's junior varsity won a share of the jayvee title by winning the opener 74-59. The Bears and Niles tie for the championship.

The junior Bears, who were on the short end of an 8-0 score early in the game, got balanced scoring with 14 points by Mark Nisbet and Dennis Kugle, 12 from Tom Crossman and 10 from Brian Haack.

Ken Groggel led the Huskies with 21 points.

BEAVERS STACK 'RECORDS'

By TURK PIERCE
Staff Sports Writer

EAU CLAIRE — Overcoming a slow start, Eau Claire whipped Watervliet 90-66 and set a Red Arrow Conference mark for league scoring average here last night.

Ray Bowerman led the Beavers with 37 points, his season's high, and set an individual record for scoring in the league.

And most important, the Beavers completed their first unbeaten regular season ever, surviving 18 games without a blemish. They have now gone unbeaten two straight Red Arrow seasons, winning 31 in a row in league play. This marks the sixth straight year the Beavers have bettered their record of the previous season.

The Beavers scored 1,223 points in 14 league games for a 87.4 average. The old record was 82.3, which they set last season. Along the way they set the single game scoring and winning margin record for the league in a 115-48 romp over Decatur.

Bowerman tallied 397 points in 14 league games for a 28.4 average, well above the record of 22.8 set by Terry Etter of Benton Harbor St. John's last season.

Watervliet, enduring its 13th straight losing season, ended 3-14 overall and 2-12 in league play.

But the game was not without its moments for Panther fans. Using a disciplined offense, Watervliet jumped off to a 12-6 lead. The game was tied 19-19 after one period, and the Panthers led 24-22 early in the second period before Eau Claire ran off 12 points in a row to take the lead for good.

The margin was only 36-28 at halftime, but Eau Claire opened the second half with eight points while holding Watervliet scoreless for 2:10, and the outcome was never in doubt after that. The biggest Beaver leads were 79-50 and 81-52.

Eau Claire switched from its normal 1-2-2 zone to a man-to-man defense in the second period, putting more pressure on the Watervliet guards, not allowing them to set up the offense. This resulted in nine turnovers compared to four in the first period.

"We got a slow start," said winning coach John Frye. "They did a nice job and ran their offense well. We started to put some pressure on them, and it hurt them."

"I think we had them nervous for awhile," said Panther coach Jerry Selvidge. "Our game plan worked OK. We wanted them to switch to a man-to-man and draw Bowerman away from the basket. But Bruce Hiler and Dick Arnold got into foul trouble. In the third period we started to rush things. We're young, we had three sophomores in there. The kids played a real good game, they didn't quit."

Hiler led Watervliet with 20 points and Gary Griffin added 16.

"We had good balance," said Frye. "Al Chisek did a nice job." Shisek had 16 points, Dennis Prillwitz had 14 and Rick Bowerman 12. Prillwitz showed no ill effects from a leg injury suffered earlier in the week. Suspended starter Robert Grandberry played the fourth period "to get ready for tournament," said Frye.

Both teams shot well. Eau Claire hitting 48 per cent to 47 per cent for the Panthers. But Eau Claire got off 75 shots to 51 for Watervliet. In the second quarter Watervliet got only six shots, making just one. But they stayed in the game on foul shots. Overall the Panthers hit 18 of 30 free throws for 60 per cent, while Eau Claire was 16 of 25 for 64 per cent.

Eau Claire controlled the boards 53-34. Ray Bowerman used his 6.8 frame to grab 24 rebounds. Chris Headle snagged 12 for the losers. Watervliet made 24 turnovers overall to 20 for the winners.

Watervliet used a 1-3-1 zone defense, with men in front and back of Bowerman. But the shorter Panthers couldn't stop job passes in to the Beaver center. Several times Bowerman tipped the ball in on passes from out of bounds. "The corner is the only weakness of the 1-3-1 zone, said Selvidge. "Rick Bowerman hurt us from there." Rick hit five of eight. Ray hit 17 of 29 despite zero for seven in the second period.

The Panthers did shut off the Eau Claire fast break, allowing only four fast break baskets.

The whole evening was not gloomy for Panther followers. Gene Bednarowski's junior varsity won its first game of the season after 13 losses, 60-59. Ken Krieger, who grabbed 13 rebounds, made the winning basket with eight seconds left after stealing the ball. It was the only time in the game.

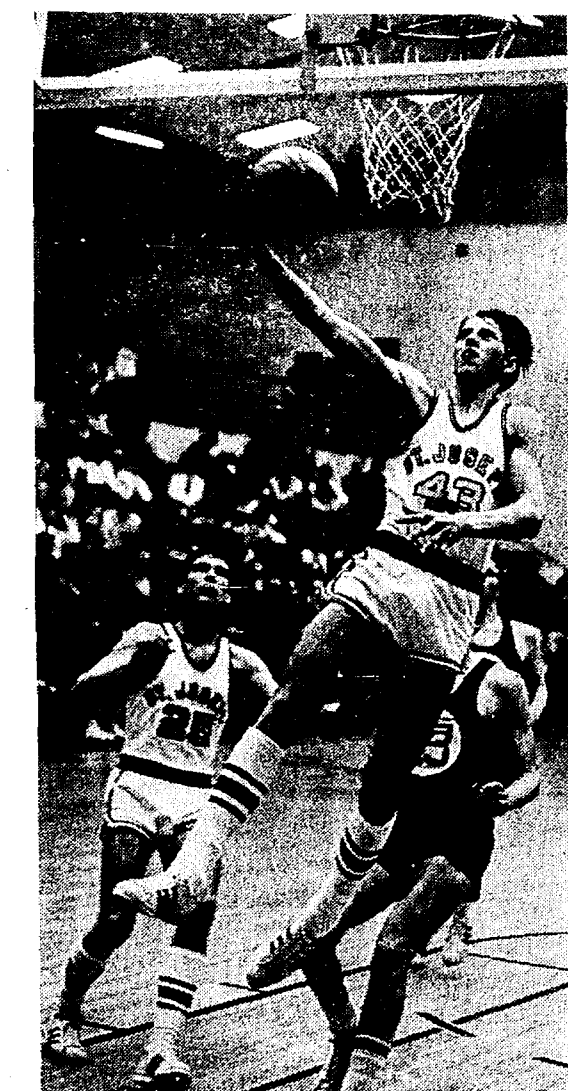

Watervliet led, aside from 2-1. Greg Bain scored 25 points and Archie Attila 10 for the winners. Mike Hippensteel and Larry Wooden had 13 each and Ron Wooden 10 for the losers, 6-8.

Lakers Swamp Bisons 80-56

Catholic Gets Rolling In Second Half

NEW BUFFALO — After a close first half, Lake Michigan Catholic drew away to whip New Buffalo 80-56 here Friday night.

The Lakers end the regular season 13-3 overall and 11-3 in Red Arrow Conference play. New Buffalo completes the first winless regular season in modern school history, with 18 straight losses this year and 21 overall.

The Lakers led all the way, but the halftime score was only 21-27 and New Buffalo made a three-point play to start the second half. Then the Lakers got rolling. "We started stealing the ball and got our fast break going," said winning coach Sam Skarich. "Jeff Neumann did an excellent job. He started hitting his shots then. Our defense got us rolling."

Ron Mandarino led the Lakers with 19 points. Neumann added 18 and John Brinlall 12. Mike Swen had 11 and Larry Lloyd 10 for the losers.

The game was marred by 57 personal fouls. The Lakers hit 26 of 45 free throws, 58 per cent, while New Buffalo managed only 16 of 35, 41 per cent. The Lakers hit 36 per cent from the field and New Buffalo 34 per cent. The Bisons controlled the boards 50-41.

"We couldn't get rolling," said Skarich. "They slowed it down and we couldn't break. Our defense was adequate, but they penetrated it for good shots. It's hard to get up for a team that's 0-17, especially with the tournament coming up."

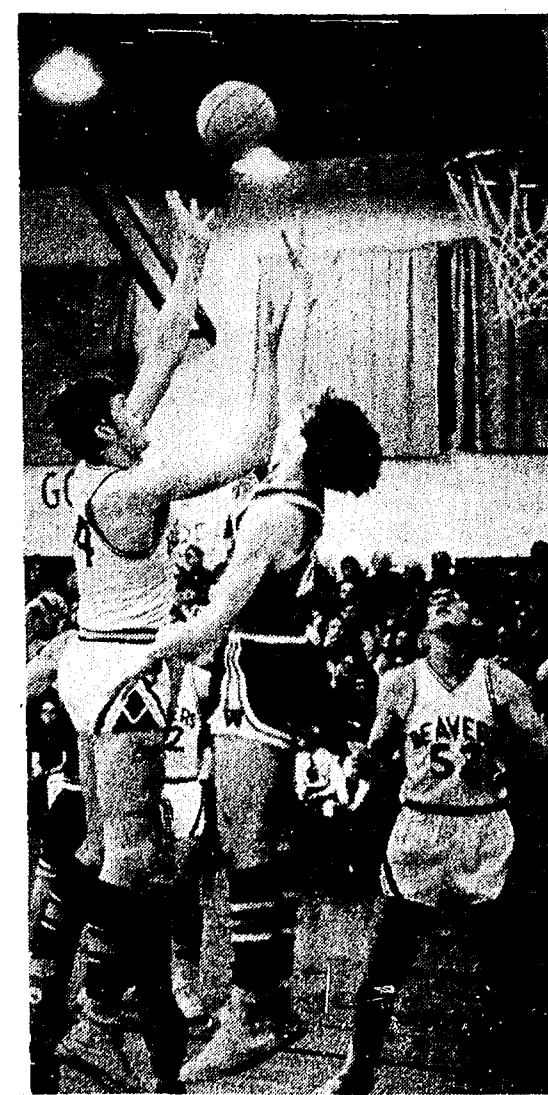

The Lake junior varsity won 63-48 and clinched the league title when Bridgman lost to Decatur. Al Nixon's crew ended 12-2 for the league season and 13-3 overall.

Trainees Sought For City Posts

Applicants are being sought in southwestern Michigan for a program designed to meet a shortage of urban administrators.

Sponsored by the National Urban Fellows, the program is aimed at opening up leadership opportunities in urban government, especially for minority-group members.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens between 25-39 years of age and have a bachelor's degree or at least two years' employment experience that has given them an understanding of urban problems. The deadline for filing is March 15.

Additional information may be obtained by writing National Urban Fellows, PO Box 1475, New Haven, Conn., (zip code 06506).

Frank Logue, program director based in New Haven, said in a news release, persons picked for the program will be selected on a competitive basis. The year-long fellowships will be awarded to start in July.

Under the program, the successful applicants undergo a six-week course in urban studies at Yale university and then are assigned as special assistants to a top administrator within a city for 10 months.

The trainees are paid an amount about equal to their present salaries, Logue said.

The program is sponsored by the National League of Cities, the U.S. Conference of Mayors and Yale university under a grant from the Ford Foundation. Twenty-four trainees are currently completing the program.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Successful Business Owner Asks Advice

By SAM SHULSKY

Q — My home is paid for and I've built up my own business. I'd like to invest some money in securities but my problem is that, at 38, I've still had only an 8th grade education and don't understand all those investment terms.

A — I imagine a lot of Ph.D.s envy your knowledge of business, let's not erect any unwarranted psychological barriers. It seems to me that one test of an educated man is his ability to cope with this complex world — and you're certainly coping, judging by the figures you give me.

Let's start with the assumption that if this investment money could be employed profitably in your own business you wouldn't be looking to buy stock in XYZ Corp. run by people in New York, Chicago or San Francisco.

The next step is to decide whether — using what knowledge you have of large corporations — you want to invest in their stock.

It would seem to me that any successful operator of a business — garage, retail establishment, service industry — would have some knowledge of the companies whose products he handles. If they are corporations with stock in public hands you can probably find something about them and their history in the financial manuals at any large library or get a line on them by writing directly to the corporation secretary, or by asking for an analysis and financial history of the company at any brokerage firm. And if these studies still leave you undecided, there's no reason why you can't turn to a growth-type mutual fund or closed-end investment company and let professional management seek out capital growth opportunities for you.

A few rules can be laid down at the very start:

There's no need to rush into any investment. Take your time and make sure you know the story.

If you're ever in doubt — stick to quality. You won't double your money overnight, but it's not likely you'll find yourself with a worthless certificate in six months, either.

Markets fluctuate. That's one of Wall Street's shortest and best proven rules. So take your time investing. Just because you thought of the idea today doesn't mean you should move $50,000 into stock tomorrow morning.

"All those investment terms" you don't understand can be confusing, of course. However, there are various booklets especially designed to explain them which you can get free of charge by writing to the N.Y. Stock Exchange, Dept. SU, Box 252, New York City 10005. Ask for "Understanding the N.Y. Stock Exchange," "Investment Facts," "Investing on a Budget," "Investors Notebook." After that you can try the public library where you will find similar texts. I judge by now you're smart enough to avoid wasting your time with the "double-your-money" overnight "fiction."

And never forget this: There is no formula in Wall Street which takes the place of common sense and you seem well endowed with that.

Your envelope is bringing you a list of growth-type corporations — merely as a suggestion — and a discussion of mutual funds.

Since you are self-employed, ask your attorney or accountant to investigate the possibility of investing under the Keogh plan which will give you a tax advantage.

Shulsky welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

For investment lists, please include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address your requests to Sam Shulsky c/o this newspaper.

Low Cost Housing On Way

Ball Corporation Wins Contract

MUNCIE, Ind. — A subsidiary of Ball Corporation, which also operates Industrial Rubber Goods in St. Joseph has been named one of 22 firms to negotiate low cost housing contracts with the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

The announcement was issued this week by HUD Secretary George Romney. A wholly-owned subsidiary, Ball Brothers Research Corporation (BRC), Boulder, Colorado, represented Ball in the winner's list.

COMPLETE PACKAGE The selection was based on BRC's proposal for a complete low cost housing package offering everything from house design, to panel manufacture, to home construction. Ball had been among 37 finalists selected by HUD in December. From a field of 236 competing under Operation Breakthrough, HUD's program to involve private enterprise in finding solutions to the nation's housing needs.

Structural building panels used in Ball's housing system were developed at research laboratories adjoining Ball Corporation's headquarters in Muncie, Indiana. The program proposed to HUD contains everything needed for a modular home building operation: preformed panels for walls and roofs, foundations, prefabricated utility cores, house plans provided by computer programs, franchised factories to build the panels and management programs for franchisees.

The HUD contract will be administered by a new company, Pantek corporation, which will be a subsidiary of BRC. Architect Elliott H. Brenner, Lafayette, Indiana; and Leo E. Zickler, Boston, Massachusetts, land developer, will be minority partners in the new corporation. The name is a contraction of "Panel Technology."

VARIETY OF PRODUCTS Ball corporation has plants in 10 states and manufactures a wide variety of glass, metal plastic, and rubber products used by the packaging, graphic arts, automotive, appliance, and dry cell battery industries.

Through BRC the firm is also active in aerospace and electronics, producing orbiting solar observatories and allied scientific equipment for NASA, computer components, television monitors, and other specialized equipment used by the television industry. The company, which is still privately held, had 1969 sales in excess of $160 million.

BLOOMSDALE Attendance Taking May Be Automated

BLOOMSDALE — The use of data processing in taking student attendances being considered for Bloomsdale school next year, according to James Scholley, director of data processing for the school.

Scholley said data processing has been used in registering students in courses for next year and has been used during the past year in issuing grade reports.

According to Scholley, "When data needs to be handled and accuracy is required, the use of data processing reduces costs and increases efficiency." Scholley said students selected courses for next year by using a Moore Business Form Speediflex, which increased registration efficiency. He said an IBM system was used in grade reports.

A country can't live on love alone.

There are a lot of things a man can do for his country. Including saying his piece, pro or con. And talk is an important part of what makes a democracy like ours work.

But in the final analysis, talk is cheap. Personal involvement accomplishes a lot more. Putting part of your savings to work for America is a step in that direction. To provide some of the economic strength it takes to make the whole system run.

That's one reason why Savings Bonds mean a lot. They help to pay part of the cost of running a country where you're free to speak your mind. And they help you at the same time. With interest and security.

So next time you have something to say about America, let your Bond purchases do part of the talking.
